

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

A Winter's Song.

Summer sun, summer sun,
Dancing through the rain,
When the winter wears a quiver
Full of cattails by the river,
Every little barb embossed
With a feather of the frost—
When the days are dark and dun,
Shine on us again!

Summer sun, summer sun,
Shining through the rain,
When the Witch of Winter hoary
Spreads her rumor and her story;
When the song of birds is lost
To the white lie of the frost—
When the lily's shroud is spun,
Beam on us again!

—Woman's Home Companion.

Leake-Beirne.

The marriage of Miss Lisa Foulke Beirne, daughter of the late Richard F. Beirne, to Mr. Jordan Leake, son of Judge William Josiah Leake, was celebrated Wednesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, in Holy Trinity Church, with the Rev. J. J. Gravatt as the celebrant.

Miss Clara Beirne and Miss Mary Beirne, sisters of the bride, were her attendants, and little Miss Nell Wise was the flower girl. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Richard Beirne. Mr. Stuart Leake, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Leck Page, Mr. Libburn Myers, Judge Daniel Grinnan, Mr. Gardner Booth, Mr. John Walker and Mr. Kirkwood Mitchell.

Venable-Schoen.

Miss Janie Schoen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schoen, and Mr. Andrew Reld Venable, son of Major and Mrs. A. R. Venable, of Petersburg, were married Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, No. 823 Park Avenue, by the Rev. J. J. Gravatt. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white chiffon over tulle, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Addie Venable, the maid of honor, wore a white silk gown with green girdle. Mr. Selden Walke was the best man.

After a trip North, Mr. and Mrs. Venable will be at home to their friends, at No. 823 Park Avenue.

Wilkinson-Sutton.

A pretty home wedding was that of Miss Margaret Sutton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor Sutton, to Mr. Samuel H. Wilkinson, which was celebrated Wednesday, at 4:30 P. M., by the Rev. B. H. Melton, in the home of the bride's parents, No. 126 Grove Avenue.

Miss Nell Sutton, sister of the bride, was her only attendant, and the best man was Mr. Vivian Farrar. Little Miss Mildred Smith and Master Hunter Sutton held the ribbons.

On their return from a trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson will make their future home at No. 119 West Avenue.

Dabney-Stuart.

Mr. William A. Dabney, of this city, and Miss Mary Bell Stuart were quietly married at "Beverly," the home of Mr. Stuart's sister, Mrs. A. Wingfield, on Wednesday, November 30th.

Miss Stuart is a Virginian by birth, but has spent most of her life in Maryland. Recently, however, she has lived in Arizona, and came to this State from Aberdeen, N. Y. She is the daughter of the late Colonel William Dabney Stuart, of the Fifty-sixth Virginia Regiment, who formerly lived in this city.

Mr. Dabney is with the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Harrison-Jewett.

Miss Mary Batchelor Jewett, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mr. W. H. Harrison, formerly of Petersburg, Va., but now of Charlotte, N. C., were married in St. Bartholomew's Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., Wednesday, at 8 P. M. The church was decorated with palms and chrysanthemums. The bride wore an elegant gown of white satin, trimmed with duchess lace, and carried lilies of the valley.

Miss Emma West, of Wilmington, N. C., the maid of honor, wore a yellow lace robe and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids, Miss Florence Dodd, of Baltimore, Md., and Miss Helen West Harrison, sister of the groom, wore black and white chrysanthemums. Little Miss Lucile Moore, in a blue accordion-plaited silk, was the flower girl.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Frederick Heineken, of Baltimore, in a gown of green and blue, elaborately trimmed in applique; Mrs. Charles, in a Paquin gown of black embroidered cloth; Mrs. L. O. Moore, of this city, in a handsome gown of gray silk; Miss Florence Marshall, of Norfolk, in white mousseline de soie.

A large reception was given to the bridal party and intimate friends on Monday evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Professor Charles Elliot Norton.

No. 360.

DOVER BEACH.

By MATTHEW ARNOLD.

The biographical sketch and portrait of Matthew Arnold have already appeared in this series.

THE sea is calm to-night,
The tide is full, the moon lies fair
Upon the straits; on the French coast the light
Gleams and is gone; the cliffs of England stand,
Glimmering and vast, out in the tranquil bay.
Come to the window, sweet is the night air!
Only, from the long line of spray
Where the sea meets the moon blanch'd sand,
Listen! you hear the grating roar
Of pebbles which the waves draw back, and fling,
At their return, up the high strand,
Begin, and cease, and then again begin
With tremulous cadence slow, and bring
The eternal note of sadness in.

Sophocles long ago
Heard it on the Aegean, and it brought
Into his mind the turbid ebb and flow
Of human misery; we
Find also in the sound a thought,
Hearing it by this distant northern sea.

The sea of Faith
Was once, too, at the full, and round earth's shore
Lay like the folds of a bright girdle furled!
But now I only hear
Its melancholy, long, withdrawing roar,
Retreating, to the breath
Of the night wind, down the vast edge drear
And naked shingles of the world.

Ah, love, let us be true
To one another! for the world, which seems
To lie before us like a land of dreams,
So various, so beautiful, so new,
Hath really neither joy, nor love, nor light,
Nor certitude, nor peace, nor help for pain;
And we are here as on a darkling plain,
Swept with confused alarms of struggle and flight,
Where ignorant armies clash by night.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch, October 11, 1903. One is published each day.

Heineken, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. Henry Heineken, of Petersburg, wore a brown tailor-made suit, with hat and gloves to match, and carried white chrysanthemums. Little Miss Lucile Moore, in a blue accordion-plaited silk, was the flower girl.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Frederick Heineken, of Baltimore, in a gown of green and blue, elaborately trimmed in applique; Mrs. Charles, in a Paquin gown of black embroidered cloth; Mrs. L. O. Moore, of this city, in a handsome gown of gray silk; Miss Florence Marshall, of Norfolk, in white mousseline de soie.

A large reception was given to the bridal party and intimate friends on Monday evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

Miller-Allen.

Quite a romance is connected with the fact of Mr. Hugh Gordon Miller, of Winchester, Va., having recently moved to New York to practice law. His engagement is announced to a wealthy young lady of that city, Miss Edna Allen. Mr. Miller met the young lady in question some years ago, while on a political campaign in the North.

Clark-Moss.

Richmond and Virginia friends made by Miss Rosa Moss, of Galveston, Texas, during her summer visits to Blue Ridge

day evening at the home of the bride.

The color scheme of pink and green was beautifully carried out in carnations and palms.

BY MAIL.

Best
Sewing Machine
Needles
FOR ALL MAKES OF MACHINES
ONLY 5 CENTS
Per Package.

Postage one cent for 1 to 20 package.
Send Coin or Stamps. State kinds wanted.

Address
THE SINGER MANCO CO.
10 West Broad Street,
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA.

Springe, will read with interest the following clipping from the Winchester News of December 24, which says:

"Miss Blanche Pitcher entertained at luncheon yesterday afternoon from 1 to 4 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. C. Nixon, in honor of Miss Rosa Moss, whose marriage to Mr. Thaddeus Clark, of Washington, is announced for January 3d. The Rosa idea was carried out in every feature of the luncheon, being suggested by the name of the bride-elect. The luncheon cloth was in rose pattern damask, as were also the napkins. The luncheon was served in seven courses and the china was rose pattern. The table was decorated with pink roses. The bride-elect's chair was covered in white tulle upon which was a bouquet of bride roses tied with pink ribbons. Suspended from chandelier over the chair was a Dresden silk bag containing eleven handkerchiefs, the gifts of Miss Moss's bridesmaids and the other guests. After all were seated the ribbons of the bag were pulled and a shower of handkerchiefs followed. All of the handkerchiefs were hand-made and one in particular was a rose point lace hand-made creation. The bride-elect's health and the toast of the groom were given in champagne. During the luncheon music was discoursed. The name cards included the six bridesmaids, Miss Pitcher, Miss Gresham, Miss Menzies, Miss Settle, Miss Lucy Lowe, Miss Adone and the following guests: Miss Connor, of Dulles; Miss Clark, Miss Deane, Miss Waters, Miss Paine and the honoree.

Out-of-Town Society.

At the marriage of Miss Edith Devereux Clapp, daughter of the late N. Devereux Clapp, of New York, to Count Rene du Temple de Ronemont, of Mepillon, France, which was celebrated Tuesday afternoon, the bride wore a rich gown of heavy white satin, brocaded with silver and trimmed with old point d'Alencon lace. Her veil was the same lace. The bridesmaids wore effective gowns of white liberty satin trimmed with lace, and white silk embroidery, and white lace hats trimmed with feathers. They carried muffs of white lace trimmed with sprays of pink roses.

Little Audrey Hoffman, the flower girl, was in white chiffon and Irish point lace and hat of white chiffon. Master Joseph Widener wore a page's costume of white satin, his cavalier hat being of white felt with a long white plume.

The German ambassador and Baroness von Sternberg will sail for Europe on Saturday.

Mr. Lapanora Stewart, of New York, will give a large dinner for his niece, Miss Anna Stewart, at Sherry's, on January 9th; after which he will take his guests to Mrs. Astor's ball. Miss Stewart is one of the debutantes of this season.

Mr. Van Swinderen, the minister from the Netherlands, has returned to Washington. His marriage to Miss Glover will take place in Washington on December 21st.

The Belgian minister and Count von Moltke, the son-in-law of Madame Bonaparte, will be the only attendants at a large and successful bazaar was opened Tuesday at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, in behalf of St. Luke's Home for Aged Women. A number of society dames are among the patronesses.

Delightful German.

A delightful German was given at the Masonic Temple Tuesday evening by Mr.

and Mrs. Charles Davenport. In honor of their debutante daughter, Miss Nellie and Marnie Davenport. The hall was beautifully decorated in pink and green. The chandeliers were entwined with roses of smilax, and pink shades over the lights gave a beautiful glow to the hall.

Mr. Adolphus Blair led many intricate figures, and the numerous favors were most attractive.

At 8 o'clock supper was served in the large dining hall. About one hundred of the dancing society sat enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Davenport's hospitality.

Dance at Charlottesville.

A most enjoyable dance was given by the younger society at in Charlottesville on Friday evening. Mrs. Michael Woods was the chaperon, and the following young ladies and gentlemen were the participants: Misses White, Moon, McChie, Jones, Lindsay, Patton, Woods, Mitchell, Walker, Farish, Marshall, Morris, Robinson and Phillips; Messrs. Osborne, Borchert, Willhoit, Jones, Russell, Delgano, West, Sinclair, Davis, Maddox, Renshaw, Sinclair and Bickers.

Farewell Services Held.

Farewell services were held in the Presbyterian Church at Winchester on Tuesday evening to Dr. Randolph Tucker Shields, who is to go to China as a medical missionary from the Southern Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Shields, who is a grandson of John Randolph Tucker, was married on Wednesday to Miss Ella Randolph Page, the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Coupland Page, of Winchester. Mr. W. Nelson Page, of the University of Virginia, was at home to attend the wedding of his sister to Dr. Shields.

Great Bridge Anniversary.

The Great Bridge Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution will celebrate the one hundred and twenty-ninth anniversary of the Revolutionary battle of Great Bridge on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the chapter room, at the residence of Mrs. Hugh Nelson Page, No. 212 Granby Street, Norfolk.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.

The battle of Great Bridge, the scene of which is near the edge of the Disposal Swamp, twelve miles from Norfolk, was fought December 8, 1776. Colonel William Woodford, in command of the Colonial forces, was successful in his defense against the troops of Lord Dunmore, who lost fifty-five killed and wounded.